

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Sending and receiving of electronic mail having an attachment in the form of a large-sized file can be made easy. When the size of mail to be sent exceeds an upper limit value of mail size, the mail is sent by automatically dividing the mail into a plurality of sub-mail sections, and the plurality of received sections of divided mail are automatically reconstituted to obtain a single original form of the mail data.